OUR BIOGRAPHY

The Class of 1972

Here we are as the finished products of the many teachers we have given the "works" to during the last twelve years at Junction City. Although not all of us were together the whole twelve years, we will remember the many enjoyable moments we did have together as our class increased in size, by number as well as by the many friendships that grew from that very first introduction.

As our minds drift back to the first grade, we instantly see the playground. Oh! What a playground! We were continuosly arguing over who was to get the swing first. If we had gotten larger allowances, maybe there would be another swing set over there today. Of course, we would have wanted to move it to the other playgrounds to get, as we went up, the use of full payment. Among the ones starting to school together and that are gratuating this year are: Brenda Aycock, Kathy Barnes, Jo Ann Brantley, Eddie Cole, Debbie Cottrell, Ann Ethredge, Rexine George, Donnette Griffith, Nigel Hall, Ronnie Ham, Dick Muse, Chuck Peace, Bruce Pepper, Ruth Pratt, Ann Price, Mark Spooner, Debbie Thurlkill, Tim Washam, Boyd Williams, and Nelwyn Williams.

Remember in the first grade when Dick and Kathy had a double birthday party? And how Debbie Cottrell was afraid to start to school because she didn't know how to count? And remember what Ann Ethredge looked like without her teeth and all those freckles? Boyd Williams was continually getting to lay on the table because his nose would always bleed. Remember when Santa Claus came to see us at Christmas and what Timothy asked for? Santa just dropped his mouth open, gasped, and said a great big "NO !" And when we gave our school play, Susan Cole wouldn't let Dick hold her hand and sing "In Your Easter Bonnet" to her by herself, so Jo Ann got to stand up there in front of everyone with Susan and Dick and he held her hand, too. Remember when Ruth fell down and knocked her tooth out the day school was out, and remember who won the dollar on the last day of school for not missing any day of school in the first grade? None other than Mark Spooner. We all went to Jo Ann's house for a picnic on the last day of school in the first grade. There were many fights over who was to swing in the tree swing.

In the second grade we gained Yvonne Calk and James Geter in our class along with two of the most popular ones, Beverly Rotten and Sandra McCall, both from El Dorado. Sandra's first day at Junction City proved to be a disappointed one for Sandra fell over near the window and broke her colors. All the darling second graders in Mrs. Taylor's room were under her direction of the Sandpaper and Tambourine Philharmonic Orchestra. Even if it was only sandpaper and round things with jingles, we thought we sounded pretty good! We used to sit in groups of four in a circle in the second grade and usually there were three boys and a girl to a circle. In Mrs. Taylor's room, the group with Chuck, Eddie, and Randall never seemed to pay attention in class. They were watching the girl in the group!

The third grade brought to our class one of our most athletic seniors - Richard Wilson. Patsy Hicks also joined our class this year. This was the year of "red rover", "one, two, three redlight", and jump rope. Wow, what times we had - jealous mostly! Who got to the redlight first caused many quarrels among THIS well-mannered group.

In the fourth grade when Ann Price broke her arm, Miss Burgess made either Ruth or Debbie C. put cheese on Ann's plate every day so her bone would grow back together and she made Debbie sit in the sun when she had a cold to get rid of her germs. Ann, Ann E., and Ruth took their symphonetes to Ann Price's house one Friday night when they weren't suppose to, and something drastic happened. They lost them and had to tell Miss Burgess but first they made her promise she woundn't get mad. She didn't Ann found them later and brought them back to school.

Michele Austin from Bernice and Mike Crawford from El Dorado, Rita Brantley from Spearsville, and Suzie Sims from Benton, all entered Junction City in the sixth grade. All were in Mrs. Jerry's room and got to go to Monroe to do an Arkansas history program for T.V. Hilites. Mrs. Neal's room was jealous for a whole week after that. Especially after they saw it on T.V. That was the year the rat fell from the ceiling in Mrs. Neal's room and the year Mike broke Mrs. Jerry's flower pot chasing Nigel around the room on the last day of school. Wouldn't you know it, Mike got in trouble his first year at J. C. Jacks also were very popular during the sixth grade along with all the romances and GIRLS !!! That was the year the girls beat the boys at relay on recess. Timothy had a broken arm which the boys said caused them to lose.

We almost forgot the fifth grade. That was the year one of the most talented of the group joined the truimphant Seniors in this school. That was Larry Cardin. Richard won enough blue ribbons to line a wall that year at the relay races. He might not have had his homework all the time, but he sure could run fast.

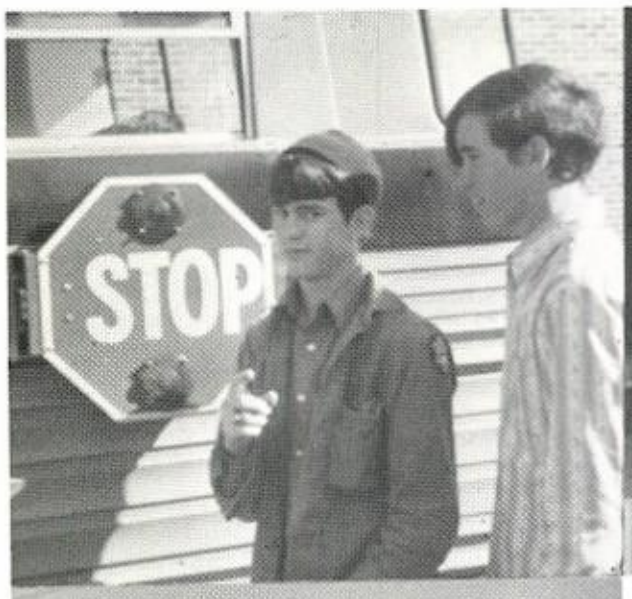
Things began to look a little different in the seventh and eighth grades. Now that we had made it to junior high, we were beginning to feel grown up a little bit. On the last day of school in the seventh grade Sandra and Beverly got a whipping from Mrs. Williamson for buying cokes when they weren't suppose to. That was the year Debbie Cottrell got her glasses. Remember how different she looked? Dale Langley from Parkers Chapel and Virgil Thurlkill from California joined us in the eighth grade. At least they found out what life in junior high at J. C. was like. Marilyn Green moved back from Bernice to go to school here that year.

At last we became freshman and what a transition we made! It seemed as though the freckles (most of them anyway) went away and if we had braces, we certainly did away with those things. Jayne Warren came to J.C.H.S. our freshman year.

In the tenth grade a favorite of all the class, Randy Gillespie, came to school at J.C.H.S. He was from Star City and if hadn't have cost so much postage, we would have sent him back. Especially for all the times he and Dick pestered a certain person in English IV. Right? Right !!! Ronnie Thurman from southern Louisiana added to our class as one of the silent minority. He chose a great class to finish with. Lenora Davis, Larry Malone, Julia Miles, Mary Moore, Bette Skinner, Vera Willis, and Otis Wright came also that year.

To our Jolly Juniors came Cindy Ervin from Ohio. We felt like we had a real Yankee in our school.

Our senior year added many joys and pleasures for us. Viola Hilyard, Mary McDonald, Eleonor Hill, Louis Dansby, and Charlie Stewart joined the Mighty Seniors. Cindy Ervin had now officially become a true Southerner thus graduation of "Yankee talk" we had as well as from this great school altogether.



We will always remember and cherish the many happy moments we had at J. C. H. S. We leave with you these moments and treasures as we've only just begun. . . to love, to think, to understand.
